Global Voices • 19 Countries • 79 Stories

Global Voices for a Better Future

Why Hearing Rehabilitation Must Be a State Priority

Ekaterine Tortladze

Founder, Aures Foundation | Head, Hearing House
(Tbilisi, Georgia)

CIICA Round Table Session

Bringing everyday family realities into policy decisions

Core Challenge — Global Reality

The Real Cost of Silence: Families at the Forefront

Moving Homes

Families abandon their homes and move to capitals just to be near speech therapy.

Financial Stress

Parents face constant debt and rely on charity for spare parts, batteries, and upgrades.

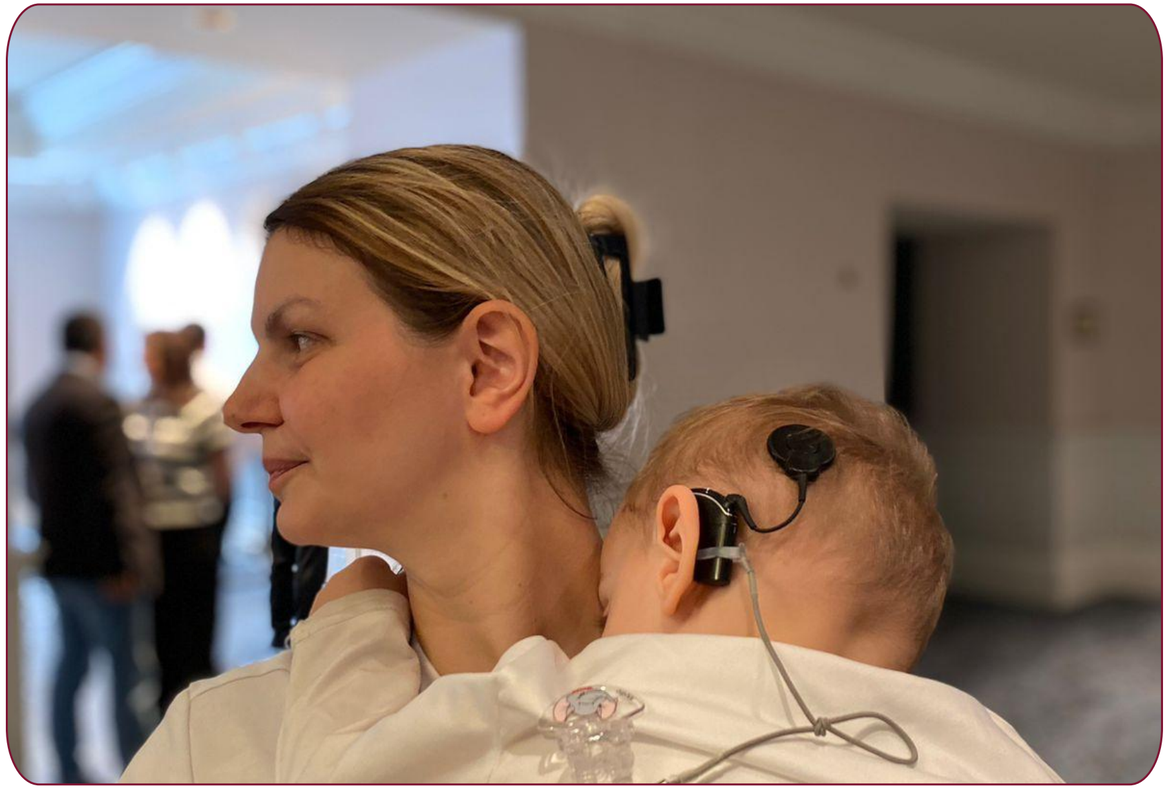

Daily Barriers

Facing social isolation, public misconceptions, and a lack of support in local schools.

Strategic Focus: Bridging The Gap

Why Global Projects Matter: From Individual Struggle to Systemic Change

1. Surgery is Just Day One
   79 stories prove technology works only when long-term therapy and care are guaranteed.
2. Beyond Parental Heroism
   Shifting the burden from individual parental sacrifice to state-guaranteed care.
3. Protecting Families
   Systemic support keeps parents working and protects family financial stability.

The success of cochlear implantation cannot rely solely on the bravery of parents. It requires a dedicated, state-backed infrastructure.

Hearing is Every Child's Fundamental Right

No child and no family should ever have to walk this road alone.

Call to Action

Confident Leaders

Proper support empowers children to become successful students, professionals, and artists.

Unified Action

No family should have to navigate this complex journey entirely alone.

Global Priority

Rehabilitation must be integrated into public policy and health systems worldwide.

